Blair Planning thanks each advertiser for their support this year.

Blair County Residents,

On behalf of Blair Planning, I am pleased to present our 2019 Annual Report.

The past year was one of change. With the adoption of the regional comprehensive plan, Alleghenies Ahead in 2018, Blair Planning adjusted its work priorities to implement the plan. Implementation of the plan is now underway for each of the five major goal areas: Agriculture, Broadband, Collaboration, Housing, and Public Health. In hand with the comprehensive plan, another major effort was completing the hazard mitigation plan, known as BRAVE. This plan identifies and profiles the major hazards facing Blair County and proposes mitigation measures to ameliorate their effects.

We continued to expand WalkWorks within the county and now have at least one route in each of the boroughs and the city. The year saw major progress and funding for Antis Township’s recreation efforts, and several transportation projects, including the last phase of the Route 22 project in the Canoe Creek area. Our stable growth pattern continued in 2019, with the bulk of activity focused in the core areas.

Other activities undertaken in the past year include a study of our employee compensation package and role assignments, preparations for the 2020 census, LTAP courses, and a number of smaller planning assistance projects with our municipalities.

As we move into 2020, we are excited to implement Alleghenies Ahead and continuing our planning efforts as an investment in the future of our beautiful county.

Looking Forward,

Ben Postles
Board Member

Transitions

In August, our Regional Planner, Tina Enderlein took a position as an Environmental Planner at PennDOT District 9. This left a large hole in our staff and our efforts in implementing the agriculture and public health elements of Alleghenies Ahead. Tina also administered the LTAP program for Blair County. She is keenly missed.

Academic Collaboration

Blair Planning is pleased to continue its support of students studying topics relevant to regional planning. Over the years, we have had several interns with us, and now we are expanding our student outreach to include entire classes in projects identified within our county that fit well with established course work or degree requirements. This gives our young people added practical experience within the controlled settings of their academic environments so they are better equipped when they enter the work force upon graduation. This past year we have had two great class experiences.

First, we engaged Penn State students on a project focused on trail stabilization at Chimney Rocks Park. This project spanned the fall and spring semesters for an environmental engineering design course. The study resulted in a cost-efficient, effective mitigation design to prevent erosion along the main trail at the park. The solution presented can be installed and maintained locally with local materials. The project has been included in a peer-reviewed publication on environmental design; a rare honor for undergraduate students.

The second project engaged Penn State students on stream bank stabilization along the Juniata River in Ganister. This is also an environmental engineering design course spanning two semesters, and is ongoing. The students are studying stream hydraulics and bank erosion to design a mitigation solution that is affordable and replicable while also allowing stream access. We are looking forward to the results.

We look forward to continued relationships with both the South Hills School (SCC) of Business and as Penn State's Sustainable Communities Collaborative Initiative as we identify additional projects. The SCC initiative connects Penn State faculty, students, and staff with local communities to address sustainability challenges through an engaged collaborative effort. Any municipal or quasi-municipal project is eligible; please contact us if you have one for consideration.

Alleghenies Ahead: Shared Strategies for a Stronger Region

Broadband and Cellular Service. Adequate internet speeds are essential to competing in the 21st Century, connecting otherwise isolated areas to a global economy. Broadband and cellular services that are reliable and high quality are essential to economic competitiveness and even public safety – and anecdotes abound about their shortcomings in the Southern Alleghenies. For younger households and most businesses today, access to high speed internet and reliable cell service is an expectation not unlike electricity. Places that don't have it cannot be competitive.

The regional broadband task force has divided itself into subparts, each focusing on a part of the problem. These committees focus on outreach to communities and companies, funding for projects, technological issues, and mapping. In mid-2019, the task force was able to secure a large funding commitment to further its efforts in implementing the action items in the Plan.

Late in the year, the task force began a survey of residents and businesses to determine the level of service and the level of satisfaction with the service at a fine-grain level not available with the Federal data. This information will be utilized to target specific areas for projects to enhance service throughout the region.

Wireless service has also been identified in the new hazard mitigation plan as a need in many of our rural areas. The lack of wireless service impedes emergency response and recovery, particularly when responders from outside the region are called in to assist. The hazard mitigation plan contains several action items to address this lack, particularly in the Williamsburg, northern Cove, and Sinking Valley areas.

Collaboration and Coordination. The region's ability to implement its priorities and maintain critical assets is tied to how well a variety of partners work together. Many issues cut across municipal boundaries and require productive working relationships between multiple entities and sectors. Retirements, looming labor force shortages, and stagnant tax bases make partnerships and structural change not only desirable but necessary. Collaborations that bring together the expertise and resources of multiple communities and sectors makes implementation of almost any initiative more likely to happen and more likely to succeed over time.

Through this goal, we seek service improvements or savings brought about reaching across borders or functional classifications to enhance marketability, responsiveness, and return on investment to taxpayers. The Blair County Action Plan does not call for municipal mergers. The Blair County Planning Commission has designated the Policy Committee of the Blair County Chamber of Commerce as its implementing committee for this goal.

The committee is seeking to find and share local and regional best practices in problem solving and service delivery. It is also identifying the costs and benefits of consolidating services and cost savings. As the similar work item in the Hazard Mitigation Plan come online in 2020, the committee will work to keep both elements coordinated.

Another major work item in the action plan is to consider the potential effectiveness of converting the Government Advisory Committee into a full Council of Governments and offer to consolidate regional governmental services under the new COG. This would provide cost savings by eliminating duplicative overhead for contracted services, utilities, and administrative overhead. Work on this is preliminary and will be continued in the coming year. A strategic planning effort is slated for the first half of 2020 to start this process.

Agriculture. The region's single largest active land use, agriculture plays a significant role in the development of a diverse local food economy. It involves everything from dairy and other commodity farming that serves national and international markets, to organic farms that serve local and regional niches. Rural agricultural townships and the boroughs that service them are facing some of the most acute struggles to fill decision-making boards and fund investments in aging infrastructure.

This action plan contains six different items, with concentrated attention on the first three during the first half of the year. Some of these items are closely related to items under the public health goal, so coordination is essential. There have been several promotional events in the past year relative to local food in our local markets as well as farmer's markets and continuation of previous activities supporting our largest local industry.

In the second part of the year, the aggressive focus changed to making Altoona an agricultural hub to promote local food in local markets and local restaurants. This included outreach to producers and consumers to begin the process of identifying deficiencies and overlaps in the current system, easing the transition away from dairy for those interested in doing so, and developing an outlet as a catalyst between the producers and buyers. Work was also started on bolstering the farmers' markets throughout the county to include the needs of local producers, provide the nutrition identified in the public health section of the Plan, and do more than utilize the markets as downtown catalysts for other businesses. We are excited to see the further development of this element in 2020.

Housing and Blight. Blighted and chronically vacant properties are a drag on the market and limit the levels of investment in new or existing housing stock. Part of attracting and retaining households with skilled workers today is having high-quality, move-in ready housing units that match modern needs. But high-quality rentals are hard to find in the region, and there are 4,700 fewer homes valued at over $150,000 than households that can afford them – suggesting that many families settle for inferior options. Stimulating the production of new market-rate housing is critical for the region's competitiveness. But very few communities have the resources or expertise to do this on their own.

This represents a shift in the approach to housing in this region. We have normally focused on providing affordable housing and blight removal. However, the planning process identified a gap in market-rate housing for upper-middle income families as well as a lack of choice in housing type. These two issues combined have the effect of dampening the available workforce as people entering this market have little or no real housing choices within the county and choose to live elsewhere.

The Action Plan calls for the development of a financial model to incentivize market rate housing of various types for the $125-$250K income market. As urban living is the preferred choice for many buyers, the program will also find ways to focus on rehabilitated units and infill development, possibly with municipal financing incentives and tax abatement tools already available in the municipal toolbox.

As of the close of the year, no implementation committee has been formed for this goal set. In keeping with the collaboration element of the plan, the Blair County Planning Commission had been looking at existing committees to fill the role, but none are quite suited for this new focus. The BCPC is working with ABCD Corporation to create a new committee to carry out the responsibilities in the Action Plan relative to housing.

Public Health. The Alleghenies Ahead goal seeks to build on and support the successful efforts of the Healthy Blair County Coalition in moving our county health rankings into fairer territory and continue to mobilize the population into active lifestyles for overall better health. As such, the Blair County Planning Commission designated the Coalition Steering Committee as the implementation committee for the public health elements of the plan.

A major focus of the public health element is active living. Several efforts are underway to integrate active living into the fabric of daily life. The Metropolitan Planning Organization, Antis Township, Williamsburg Area, and several others have stepped up to provide active living choices to the residents of the County. WalkWorks is a major public health initiative of Blair Planning, and is addressed in a separate section.

What is active living? It encompasses a broad spectrum of issues that come together to positively affect individual and community health. Physical elements such as trails, bicycle lanes, sidewalks, walkways, and river access all play a role in keeping us healthy. We regularly receive criticism from visitors and former residents that our county is severely lacking in these elements and this lack is a significant factor in decisions to leave or not visit again.

We continue to integrate health into all policies and plan documents developed at the planning office. Because we often take health for granted, we often make seemingly unrelated decisions that have a major detrimental impact. This is done both at the individual and municipal levels. By integrating health into all our studies and documents, this trend can be reversed, resulting in a healthier population, and more attractive community.

Census 2020 Preparations

As 2020 approaches, the Census has been reaching out to county planning departments to prepare for the decennial census. The major focus of 2019 for the preparation was reconsidering the tract and block group boundaries as well as small developed areas known as census-designated places.

The tract and block group boundaries have served us well for several iterations of the Census, and there seems to be no need to make changes for 2020. In reviewing the census-designated places, we determined that many of our village areas qualify for the designation, which would provide ready-to-use data for these smaller areas. The immediate benefit would be the ability to design Federally-funded projects for these areas without the need for additional data collection. Over seven dozen such places were identified in Blair County and were submitted to the Census Bureau for consideration and inclusion in the 2020 Census.

One of the last steps in preparing for the decennial census is verifying existing building projects that will result in new residential units that will be occupied by April first (Census Day). This process was underway at the end of 2019, with a wrap-up expected at the end of January 2020.

The end of 2019 also saw Blair Planning ramping up its complete count efforts to ensure all residents of the county are counted. A complete count ensures Pennsylvania has the correct number of representative in Congress and the Electoral College, and ensures Blair County is eligible for the maximum amount of Federal funding possible. An undercount shorts us in both categories. Efforts for the complete count include a media blitz, in-person assistance, and working with the Census Bureau to enhance its attempts to count every person in the County.

Additionally, the Census annually sends out a Boundary and Annexation Survey (BAS) to all municipalities. A consolidated survey is available by designating the county to do this work. We continued with the consolidated boundary and annexation survey in 2019.

Development Reviews

Section 502 of the PA Municipalities Planning Code gives the Planning Commission authority to review and comment on subdivision and land development proposals submitted to local municipalities in those municipalities that have a subdivision and land development ordinance. A fee sufficient to cover the costs for the review is also authorized. The Commission also comments on consistency with the Blair County Comprehensive Plan in accordance with Section 303 of the PA Municipalities Planning Code; Acts 14, 67, 68, 127, 247, and Act 537, the PA Sewage Facilities Act. Federal Executive Order #12372 also provides the authority to comment on the consistency of federally-funded projects.

In 2019, the Planning Commission reviewed 130 development plans, which was slightly less than the 139 plans reviewed in 2018. However, fees collected for development reviews were greater than the totals for the previous two years, 2017-2018. Additionally, Intergovernmental compliance requests were greater in 2019 than totals from the previous two years. The table below provides information on the annual review totals by type.

Annual Review Totals by Type

Blair Planning Structure and Local Share Update

Blair Planning is not a county department. We are an independent organization with the County and each of the twenty-five municipalities as 'shareholders' which each pay an annual local share to support the local activities of the organization and match grants that benefit us regionally. The organization is made of three principal elements: the Government Advisory Committee, which is essentially the board of shareholders and gives direction to the other two entities; the Blair County Planning Commission, which operates primarily under the Municipalities Planning Code and conducts general planning; and the Altoona Metropolitan Planning Organization, which operates under 23 USC and undertakes transportation planning for the Altoona MSA, which is the same as the county boundary.

In the spring, we asked our contributors about changes to how the local share is calculated. Currently, we calculate on a straight per capita basis based on the last decennial census numbers. This is the method that has been in place since the Section 701 Program was replaced by the CDBG Program, but some feel the extremes (least populated and most populated) are pulling further apart and the methodology should be reconsidered. Several alternatives have been studied including using total land area, road miles, total assessed property value, equal contribution, or a combination of these.

Based on the discussions we had, we are considering either maintaining the straight per capita basis or making a percentage an equal contribution with the balance based on per capita shares. This would balance the extremes a bit but not make a change that is untested and potentially cause financial difficulties. Any change will likely wait until the new Census 2020 figures are released for implementation, and will take into account any addition of services such as a countywide flood administrator.

Hazard Mitigation

The substance of the new hazard mitigation plan, Blair Resilience: Addressing Vulnerability & Exposure (BRAVE), was completed in 2019, leaving the adoption process for early 2020. The plan, identifies natural hazards and man-made hazards that potentially threaten Blair County and proposes an action plan to address those hazards.

Thirteen hazards are profiled in the plan, based on the profiles found in the Pennsylvania statewide hazard mitigation plan. The profiles identify the hazard, look at past history, and project likelihood of occurrence and impacts in the future. The hazards are then ranked with focus on those ranked highest.

The plan contains five goals, and 54 action items to undertake in the coming five years. Many of these action items are continuations of education programs and training already in place from the previous plan. Many more continue to address flooding and strong storms, as was done in the previous plan.

The largest new item in BRAVE is the tying storm water management into flood plain management in a hazard mitigation perspective. This is the result of the fact that in Blair County, flooding is as much a man-made hazard as it is a natural hazard. The plan outlines many action items to address this issue.

Hazard mitigation affects us all, and we need to be as prepared as we can be when we experience impacts from these unfortunate events. We also need to take steps to reduce the likelihood of occurrence as well as the severity of the impact of these hazards. BRAVE continues and builds on the successful actions of the past and moves us into a safer future.

The PennDOT Local Technical Assistance Program (LTAP) program was created to share transportation knowledge, improve road maintenance and safety skills, and put research and new technology into practice at the municipal level. The Southern Alleghenies Planning and Development Commission schedules the classes for the region and Blair Planning helps provide LTAP information to the Blair County municipalities.

What is the Roads Scholar Program?

Offered by the Pennsylvania Local Technical Assistance Program, the Roads Scholar Program provides an opportunity for municipal employees to be trained by LTAP's professional team in the latest road-related technologies and innovations.

The Road Scholar I program provides a professional certification to municipal employees and officials who attend LTAP workshops within a three-year period.

Metropolitan Planning Organization for Blair County (Altoona MSA)

The Federal-Aid Act of 1962 resulted in the formation of the Altoona Area Transportation Study (AATS) to provide a continuing, cooperative and comprehensive planning process that certifies the county as eligible to receive federal highway and transit funds. Today the AATS is countywide and is called the Metropolitan Planning Organization (MPO). It has members that represent PennDOT, Amtran, the Blair County Airport, the County and the municipalities. The MPO works with the municipalities, the public, the non-profit and private sectors, and elected officials to plan and prioritize projects to receive federal and state funding to maintain and improve the transportation system.

The Blair County Planning Commission (BCPC) performs administrative and transportation planning tasks for the MPO by convening its meetings, preparing meeting notices, agendas, minutes, and performing the state and federal planning requirements on its work program. To do this work, the BCPC coordinates with the County and the municipalities for projects to include in the transportation improvement program/12 Year Program, holds Local Technical Assistance Program Courses, and helps municipalities apply for grants through these PennDOT programs like the Multimodal Transportation Fund and the Transportation Alternatives Set-Aside Program.

MPO actions in 2019 include adopting the Draft 2021 Transportation Improvement Program, supporting the 2020 statewide targets for safety performance measures, removing the Park Avenue Connector from the MPO's transportation plan, and approving $102,000 as a match from the 2019 TIP to a state program to replace antiquated permanent dynamic message signs along US Route 22. Old Route 22, and I-99. The MPO also approved PennDOT District 9-0 application for fiber optic cable repair and replacement along I-99 from Plank Road to Cross Keys and three new dynamic messaging signs along I-99.

A. Transportation Improvement Program (TIP)/12 Year Program

The MPO approved a Draft 2021-2024 TIP of $ 45,914,671 of federal and state funds for state highways and bridges and includes 10 local bridges. The MPO approved a draft transit portion of the TIP of $26,307,694 in projects. The Draft TIP will undergo a public comment period in May and June with final approval by the MPO, the State Transportation Commission (STC), and the Federal Highway Administration this summer.

During 2019, to help prepare Draft 2021 TIP, the transportation planner attended PennDOT Connects interviews with eleven municipalities and completed 3 forms for County bridges and reviewed the comments on 28 projects. The planner also consulted with PennDOT District 9-0 and the County and other municipalities for a review of local bridge priorities.

With the Draft 2021 TIP nearing final adoption, the planning commission has sent a memorandum to the County and the municipalities to ask for local bridge needs and state roadway concerns that they would like addressed or included in the next 2023 TIP/12 Year Program.

B. PennDOT Connects

Since announcing PennDOT Connects in December 19, 2016, PennDOT has been involving local government early in the highway and bridge project planning process so that community needs can be considered and addressed if feasible. As a result of PennDOT Connects meetings and interviews with municipalities, and about a dozen projects in the Draft 2021 TIP may include sidewalks on bridges or along sections of state roadways.

C. Transportation Alternatives Set-Aside Program

In the last project round, the MPO approved the use of TA Set-Aside Program funds for Phase I of the Logan Valley Streetcar/First Frontier Trail in Antis Township and Bellwood Borough that is to be constructed in 2021.

D. Multimodal Transportation Funds

In fall of 2019, the BCPC notified the municipalities by memorandum that PennDOT was accepting applications for its Multimodal Transportation Fund Program and drafted a support letter for the County of Blair's application for improvements to County Road 101/Bedford Street in Greenfield Township. Earlier in the year, the planning commission provided letters of support for the City of Altoona's Beale Avenue Traffic Calming Project and the Borough of Tyrone's 9th Street Pedestrian Bridge applications to the PA Department of Community and Economic Development's Multimodal Transportation Fund.

E. Bicycle Planning Activities

The Pennsylvania Department of Transportation held an online public meeting to finalize the update of the state's Bicycle and Pedestrian Master Plan. The planning commission began to revise the MPO's walking and bicycling plan so that it can be included in the MPO's 2021-2045 transportation plan that is reviewed and adopted every 5 years.

F. Highway Performance Monitoring

The planning commission collected data for PennDOT on 96 state and municipal owned liquid fuel Roadways, attended a PennDOT Highway Performance Monitoring two day workshop and a one day field audit. The data collected is used to determine roadway federal funding levels.

G. Other Transportation Activities in 2019

- Provided a letter of support for the County of Blair's Community Partnership grant application to DCNR to rehab the White Bridge for bicycling and walking.
- Attended a study meeting at Roaring Spring Borough and a PennDOT Field View of the corridor for the PA Route 36 Safety Study.
- Worked with PennDOT and the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) to draft the MPO's FY 2020-21 Unified Planning Work Program.
- Attended the PennDOT Planning Partners' one day summer and 3 day fall meetings.
- Drafted a memo to non-profit transportation providers regarding applications for PennDOT 5310 Non Profit Vehicle Grants.
- Attended a meeting regarding the Altoona 10th and 12th Avenues Study.
- Drafted a letter of support to the PennDOT Bureau of Rail Freight for two 2019 Rail Freight Assistance Applications.
- Met with representatives from PennDOT District and Central Offices and FHWA to discuss the five year update of the MPO's transportation plan.
- Attended a meeting of ABCD Corp. the Glendale Snowmobile Club, Allegheny Ridge Corp., and R. Sky regarding the proposed Horseshoe Curve Multiuse Trail.

WalkWorks

The PA WalkWorks Program is an initiative implemented in partnership with the University Of Pittsburgh Graduate School Of Public Health Center for Public Health Practice with the goal to improve the health of Pennsylvania residents.

The purpose of WalkWorks is to increase opportunities for physical activity, by creating a network of fun, fact-filled, community-based walking routes and walking groups.

The goal of WalkWorks is to identify and promote safe walking routes. In order to accomplish this task Blair Planning worked with local communities to identify potential routes and conduct a walkability assessment of these areas to make recommendations for existing conditions and to make the potential routes more pedestrian friendly.

During 2019, Blair Planning established four new WalkWorks routes. The Lakemont Route named the Lakemont Park Route loops through the revamped Lakemont Park, the Tyrone Borough route named the Downtown Tyrone Route goes through the downtown, the Duncansville Borough route named the Duncan Trail starts at the community park and ends at the downtown square, and the Newry Borough route named the Don Gonsman Memorial Route loops throughout the borough. All four routes are less than two miles in length and are located in notable areas of the boroughs and townships.

Walking is one of the most popular options for physical activity in America, and for good reason:

- It helps you lose or maintain your weight
- Provides stress relief
- Reverses normal age-related memory loss
- Delays the development of Alzheimer's disease
- Improves your ability to manage arthritis
- Avoid or reduce chronic diseases such as diabetes, heart disease, and some cancers

By becoming a part of WalkWorks, you can improve your health, while socializing with friends and family, and enjoy the scenery in your community. We are always open to more people forming groups and providing themed activities and walks. Just call us for support.

Help Plan for Your Community's Future.

Proper zoning and planning affects every part of a community from public health, safety, transportation, and sustainability.

That's why the Pennsylvania Municipal Planning Education Institute (PMPEI) offers courses in community planning and land use regulations. PMPEI presents classes in cooperation with the Pennsylvania State Association of Boroughs.

Who Should Take These Classes?

Classes are ideal for planning commissioners, zoning hearing board members and administrators, elected and appointed officials, and municipal solicitors.

Take Classes in Your Community.

- THE COURSE IN COMMUNITY PLANNING
- THE COURSE IN ZONING
- THE COURSE IN SUBDIVISION & LAND DEVELOPMENT REVIEW
- THE COURSE IN ZONING ADMINISTRATION

Become a PMPEI Instructor.

Are you an expert in planning and zoning? Train-the-Trainer is PMPEI's program to prepare instructors to teach the PMPEI courses. Instructors get to teach classes in or near to your community, so you'll get to network with colleagues you know and who face similar issues as you.

Earn Credit.

All courses are approved for continuing education credit for attorneys, registered landscape architects, engineers, land surveyors, geologists, and Uniform Construction Code officials.

This class is approved for 10 Certified Borough Official credit hours.

For a complete list of classes or to learn more about PMPEI, visit www.pmpel.org or call 800-232-7722, Ext. 1042.
